Critico is a cutting edge communications platform provider that ensures quality connections between people when it matters most. Critico is the product of a unique vision. Two great companies, OFCOM licensed, PageOne and BPMultipage, now working together as one. Bringing a better range of critical communications solutions. Taking it to a higher level of quality and service. 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Whether wanting to future-proof your current system, deepen strategic communications partnership, or take advantage of the very latest in critical communications innovation. Business focused so far in whole UK and Ireland.

At Critico, it all adds
up to what we call:
Communication
Without Compromise.

Call Systems Technology (CST) paves the way for innovative communication and critical alert solutions. Trusted experts for over 25 years, CST values itself on working with and working for passionate people. Providing pioneering, robust on-site solutions: wireless call points, critical alert messaging, call button solutions, paging systems, two-way radios and Gen2 messaging and alarm monitoring software. CST even has their own dedicated OFCOM frequency license.

Member Highlight

Multitone Electronics PLC is an international telecommunications company with extensive experience in critical communications and infrastructure deployment. With UK manufacturing and logistics centres, Multitone specialises in the development and delivery of bespoke, highly resilient, integrated messaging solutions and critical communications. The Multitone messaging solutions offer a device and network agnostic unified messaging platform that meets the diverse needs of many organisations. Solutions are flexible and enable an organisation's communication strategy to evolve over time without being restricted by the constraints and inherent costs associated with proprietary systems; new technologies and operational requirements can easily be accommodated within the system architecture.

International Innovation Days in Istanbul

TPL Systemes was the organiser of Innovation Days at the end of May. Many CMA members were present. Here is a photo with David Villacastin and Dietmar Gollnick. The presentations by the Turkish experts in the field of forest fire fighting and prevention among others attracted particular attention. The eDMR systems from TPL help enormously.
